

PhD FELLOWSHIPS

Fellowships for doctoral thesis in propulsive systems at CMT-
Motores Térmicos

Universitat Politècnica de València, Spain

Number of Fellowships: 15

Requisites

- University degree or equivalent with a background formation in one of the following topics: Fluid Mechanics, Heat and Mass Transfer, Energy, Combustion, Thermal Engines (others may also be considered).
- Degree obtained after June 2020 and before September 2022
- Birth date: After 1st of January 1995

In addition to the consideration given to the academic records of a candidate, specific knowledge in computer science and English will be valued.

Grant conditions

In normal circumstances and depending on both the regulations of the university and the Spanish law and their possible changes, CMT-Motores Térmicos guarantees that the student will have a grant for up to 36 months maximum.

Please note that depending on the personal situation of each student, the legal procedures to formalize a scholarship in Spain can take about three months. It is therefore advisable to foresee funding for living expenses for the duration of the process.

The expenses for any personal paperwork required by UPV for the enrolment are not supported by the grant. Non-European students will have to pay a supplement of about 160 € for any registration at UPV and the expenses that may be required for legalizing their documents in Spain.

During this period, the students will do their doctoral studies with the following benefits:

Scholarship:

- Year 1: 16.971 €/year
- Year 2: 16.971 €/year
- Year 3: 18.183 €/year

Doctoral studies fee: 300 €/year (approx.)

Social security and unemployment insurance: 5000 €/year (approx.)

The scholarships holders may be proposed as candidates for grants offered by official public programs, with additional benefits.
